Cabbage Big C blitz

EATING green veg can boost a woman's chance of surviving breast cancer by more than 60 per cent, a study claims.

Doctors believe chemicals in vegetables such as broccoli and cabbage reduce inflammation in the body. The more eaten, the more likely the cancer is to be beaten.

Experts in Nashville, US, analysed more than 5,000 Chinese patients treated for the cancer — which hits more than 45,000 Brits a year.
